
† A true purtraiture of sundrie coynes found the 8 of Aprill and other dates following in the yeare 1611. in a certaine place called the Harkirke within the lordship of litle Crosbie of Sephton in the countie of Lancaster, w^ch place M^r William Blundell of the said litle Crosbie Esquire inclosed from the residue of the said Harkirke for the burial of such Catholick recusantes deceasing either of the said village or of the adioyning neighbourhood, as shoulde be denied buriall at their parish Church of Sephton.

Note y^t the two roundes joyned expresse y^e sides of the coynes.

[1611]

STC 20126.3